INTRODUCTION

Even though we were originally and are presently innocent, shamans or clerics from the dawning of their petroglyphic animal head dress of the Paleolithic era in human civilization vehemently and incessantly continue to accuse / pronounce, charge and slander our human personhood as being "evil, wicked and sinful" in our thoughts, desires and acts. For this, they self-righteously declare we "deserve just punishment" from their personified deity "abiding" in their ancient fictionalized supernatural world. Their defamation and slandering of our sense of self actuates clinical shock which is a malicious and criminal act. No one is guilty of their false, moralizing accusations and charges. Instead, they are guilty of demeaning, slandering, and traumatizing the character of our personhood with intimidating threats, doubts and fears. These traumatic, false pronouncements and charges lock us into a terrorizing prison of chronic, clinical shock of guilt, sorrow, worthlessness, alienation and anticipatory anxiety of "endless torment". Shamans or clerics then claim we might be able to avoid and / or escape this "eternal punishment" if we immediately comply with their rules, rites and rituals including extorted generous monetary donations, special fees and contributions to finance their "deity's" enterprise. They also declare subjugative compliance might restore our original sense of innocence, worth, belongingness and adequacy. You can kill a person without killing their body. On the seven continents of our planet, this developmental, clinical shock is taking place.

The following is a Co-axial, Evidentiary Summary Table No. 1 of Civilization's Superstitions or "Religions", their Timeline, Doctrines, and Practices. As you review and assimilate the facts on this table, notice the god-persons who claim "orthodoxy", their civilization of occurrence, and how similar their doctrine is to preceding god-persons of earlier civilizations. So, kindly compare the doctrine of each god-person, their civilization and time which they and their religion appear in human history and how they intrinsically, i.e., unconsciously plagiarize one another.

SUMMARY

SOME CROSS REFERENCING CO-AXIAL TABLE NO. 1 X, Y SUMMARY OBSERVATIONS

“Religions”, “religious cults” or “church denominations” are human, fictional and traumatizing creations which tend to be relativistic, minimizing universal sources of ethical principles and asserting an opportunistic view of “moral” functioning with an:

- I. orthodoxy (“chosen” / “saved”) superiority, while others are secular (“unchosen” / “dammed”) inferior, the enemy and “doomed to hell”,
- II. orientation towards punitive punishment, fear of disapproval and blind obedience,
- III. conformity for personal gain or rewards,
- IV. complying for social approval and group acceptance and
- V. “morality” void of authentic individual principles and values of personal, deliberate conviction.

Co-axial table No. 1 summarizes the civilizations and their superstitions / “religions” for the past 200,000 years along the X axis with their invented, fictionalized doctrine and practices along the Y axis. Cross referencing the X and Y axis demonstrates the Paleolithic origin of any superstition or “religion” and how their beliefs were plagiarized, refined / tailored and merchandized by various god-persons of superstitions or “religions” of each subsequent civilization. The following are some observations of the Co-axial table No. 1 and cross-validated by the Crosswalk table No. 1.

- I. Minus the 2 newest superstitions / “religions”, since the Paleolithic era, “shamans” or clerics have been claiming the existence of a “supernatural” world with “supernatural” creatures and themselves as having “supernatural” powers.
- II. 100% of superstitions / “religions” have the concept of a “divine orthodoxy” vs. “secular”, each claiming they are uniquely and “divinely” ordained. Others might be somewhat or similarly “divinely” ordained, but they alone are the only holders of the alleged truth about any and all “religion”.
- III. 3 of 15 superstitions / “religions”, or 20%, have been militarily imposed. However that number is somewhat skewed because 2 of the 3 are refinements of the previous 1, so you can really make the argument that only 1 of 15 superstitions / “religions” , or 7%, was militarily imposed. Military imposition was a very foreign concept to most superstitions / “religions”.
- IV. Removing military imposition, the belief or practice adopted by the fewest civilizations, 5 of 15 or 1/3, is that of “trinities”. This is an example of how idiosyncratic religious claims are. A Buddhist or a Jain would find the concept of a “trinity” completely foreign, yet they all claim “divine orthodoxy”. Conversely, 9 of 15 superstitions / “religions”, or 60%, have a fable of a global flood, demonstrating how similar and refined many of the superstitions / “religions” in human history are.
- V. 12 of 15 superstitions / “religions” or 80% practiced at least ½ or 50% of the doctrines identified.
- VI. 3 of 15 superstitions / “religions”, or 20%, practiced less than half of the beliefs and practices identified. It’s interesting to note that those 3 are the single oldest (Paleolithic) and 2 newest superstitions / “religions”, Sikhism and Baha’ism, the only 2 from the past millennium. Paleolithic, because we don’t have all the yet to be discovered scientific evidence, as Sikhism and Baha’ism, the 2 newest, have begun to shed a lot of the doctrines and unsubstantiated concepts of the more ancient superstitions or “religions”. It’s very interesting that the newest superstition / “religion” practices the fewest doctrines.
- VII. It is interesting, if you remove militarily imposed, 3 of 15 superstitions / “religions”, or 20%, practice every one of the remaining 22 doctrines and practices. The Egyptians, the Greeks, and the Christians are examples demonstrating the evolution of an ancient superstition / “religion” into modern superstition / “religion”.
- VIII. 4 of 23 doctrines or practices, or 17%, are practiced by every superstition or “religion” in history. Zodiac symbols, the concept of a “divine orthodoxy”, a posthumous underworld of punishment, and a posthumous paradise of rewards, demonstrating these commonalities of human nature:
  - A. Every civilization marveled at the stars or “heavens”, sea / oceans and earth. These were the 3 sources of early civilizations superstitions / “religions”.
  - B. Every civilization has the projected grandiosity of being the only holders of truth about any and all “religion” into their superstitions / “religions”.
  - C. Every civilization imagines posthumous approval and posthumous disapproval, projecting the common punitive conscience of the human unconscious mind into their superstitions / “religions”.

CONCLUSION

Concluding, “shamans” or clerics down through the course of human history with their common unconscious mind have invented personified “deities”. This “deity” or “deities”:

- A. Disregards any intrinsic assignment of value to human life, other than conditionally, within the “doctrinal” context of blind obedience.
- B. Is obsessed with labeling normal, natural human thoughts, desires, and acts as “forbidden” and despicable.
- C. Is a sadist, i.e., needing to punish others, with a blood fetish, consumed with rage, gaining satisfaction from human suffering and sacrifice.
- D. Is allegedly omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent, yet created human beings vulnerable to any and every type and kind of behavior this “deity” has labeled deplorable.
- E. Does not prevent but permits incredible climate disasters, physical diseases, mental and emotional dysfunctioning, abject poverty and ravenous hunger to exist in suffering people’s lives as well as the world at large and dismisses these catastrophes as insignificant, expecting human beings to affirm and proclaim this “deity’s” grandiosity, at any cost, as this “deity” lacks a rational, healthy, mature and wholesome character, which has no need for infantile, constant admiration and ceaseless confirmation of its “superiority”.

This visual-aid shows us not to be afraid... “don’t worry”, there is nothing to fear. There isn’t any kind of tormenting punishment to be afraid of. The axis of the scientific method will always take care of us and keep us safe and secure because it is rational and can be trusted without any doubts. The axis of the scientific method give us the chance to prove that we are better than clerics who use false threats, terrorizing fear and unbelievable doubts. We are not “evil and wicked as sin”. We are not afraid of any type of their punishment. We are better and stronger than clerics and their false “deities”, threatening claims. Now it’s time for clerics with their false threats, horrifying fears and unbelievable doubts, which are to be ignored, i.e., to disappear, vanish off the face of planet Earth.
